

Photo: Dino Borelli, Flickr

IN A CLIMATE CRISIS, WHY IS NZ CUTTING PASSENGER RAIL?

To reduce greenhouse gas emissions, many countries are fast expanding passenger rail.

But not New Zealand. Kiwirail just suspended the North Island's last long-distance passenger train. In future, they plan to focus on running expensive sight-seeing tours that will do nothing to get cars off the road.

Let's get New Zealand back on track.
Sign the petition at allrailways.co.nz

